

The Unsmurf Pig

By: Harper Casson

No one knew how President Oinkers became a leader. Many believe that he selected himself. Smart Cow Governor treated animals nicely. He helps them keep their farmyard clean. He helps the blind chickens cross the chicken road. He could do this because his brainpower.

Welkum to the Farm Where Pigs are Ahsum!
and everyone must oink!

President Oinkers loved coming up with ridiculous laws.

He first made the law: Pig oinks are amazing!
So every single animal must oink in this farmyard!

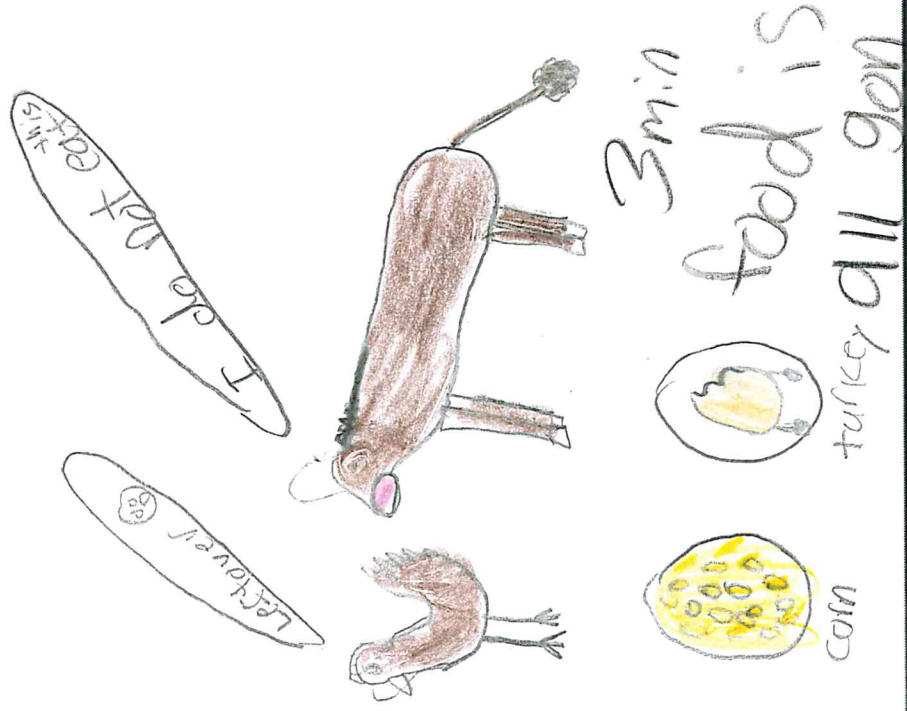

Smart Cow Governor says, "We can't have the chickens going around oinking!"

President Onkers wags his tail at Governor and says, "I do whatever I want!"

President Onkers then declares,
"Everyone, but me, must eat
leftover food!"

Smart Cows Governor says, "No,
you have to be able to have food in order to have leftovers! This will cause
all animals to starve!"

President Oinkers didn't listen
to Smart Cows Governor.
The barnyard streets were really loud and confusing.
Some animals couldn't ask
and were forced to be silent.

President Oinkers also ate all the food and never left any leftovers for the animals.

The animals were confused
and starving.

*The Smart Cow Governor makes a new law: "Only Smart Pigs can be President."
Since President Oinker's laws
were unsmart, the Smart Cow Governor says: "You're fired!"

Animals became much happier and decided to only elect smart pigs
from here on out.
That's the end of the unsmart pig.
